This data package is designed for general information and visualisation and is used at your own risk. The GSI gives no warranty, condition or representation as to the accuracy and quality of the data or its suitability for any use or purpose. The data package is a compilation of outcrop data, drilling data, palaeontological data and structural data from the GSI 6inch to 1mile series and exploration company reports in the open-file system. The 100k geology has been reinterpreted using this data, the Tellus geophysical surveys and new mapping and drilling by the Geological Mapping unit of the GSI.
